PROMPT ACTION AVERTS BAD STRIKE AT VESTA NO. 5 MINE

Organizer William Feeney and Others of Miners' Organization Adjust Matters

RECENT DISTURBANCES ENDED

Men Placed Under Arrest First of Week to be Released, According to Agreements—Serious Trouble Narrowly Avoided.

Trouble at the Vest No. 5 mine of the Vesta Coal company at Fredericktown, which threatened to engulf in a general strike all the miners of the company, has virtually been settled by prompt action of union officials in the district and mine officials. Miners are returning to work on conditions fixed by those in charge of the situation, and William Feeney, of Charleroi, organizer for the United Mine Workers of America, is in Washington today to effect the release of 15 miners and women arrested in connection with recent disturbances at Fredericktown. Mr. Feeney was placed in general charge of the situation by the district organization.

The first of the trouble occurred last week, when the Vesta Coal company started their mine for the first time since last December, and declined to take back into their employ some of the old miners. The first part of this weeks' disturbances that much resembled riots resulted from an attempt of a certain number to go to work in opposition to the wish of others. The chief trouble was over the checkweighman. Eviction notices were posted, it is said in certain instances, and suits instituted against certain of the miners and their wives.

The settlement effected through President Van Bitner, of the District and Organizers O'Leary, Feeney and Davis was on the following points: First, that the checkweighman elected go on the tipple; second that the eviction notices be withdrawn; third, that all suits against miners and their wives be dropped; fourth, that the mine resume in ful and when the mine is in operation, the cases of six men affected by the original proceedings be taken up according to contract.

President Van Bitner, and Organizers Feeney and O'Leary addressed the men at a meeting on Wednesday and measures for ending the trouble were taken up. Had the affair come to the worst, the probabilities are that a long drawn struggle between the Vesta Coal company, which is a subsidiary of the Jones and Laughlin Steel company, and the miners would have been the result. Other miner would have been called out on a strike from sympathy.

CHILD WELFARE CIRCLE NOTES GREAT NEED OF KINDERGARTEN

Second Regular Meeting Held on Wednesday When Educational Topics Are Taken up for Study.

The second regular meeting of the Child Welfare Circle was held in the rooms of the Business Men's Association Wednesday afternoon, with over 20 members present. The discussion of educational topics was led by Mrs. Robert Allen, Mrs. Harry J. Repman and Mrs. Janet Hannen. Under the leadership of Mrs. W. B. Pflegharat, the Charleroi Circle anticipates a campaign of successful effort. Observation and study of local conditions have already suggested the outline of work to be taken up. The crying need seems to be, according to the Circle that of a kindergarten. The schools and playgrounds for the older children are well provided but nothing has been done for the children under school age.

TO MAKE FIRST SHIPMENTS SOON

Latter Part of April to See Opening of Coal Trade to the Northwest

ANNOUNCEMENT BY OPERATORS

With the end of April the first shipments of lake coal will go from Pittsburg mines for the northwest. This announcement, made by coal operators Wednesday, will be welcome news to thousands of miners who have been lucky when they could get half time the past six months. During the week the Pittsburg district mines increased fully 10 per cent in coal production. Part of this was due to preparatory shipments for lake docks and the remainder to a generally better coal consumption, though the latter showed less than 5 per cent gain.

The general lake movement, however, is not expected to show strong until July 1, owing to the large stocks of coal still accumulated on the northwestern docks.

Respecting the export coal trade, one of the large operators said Wednesday that while Pittsburg could not hope to develop a permanent export coal trade from its own field, it was bound to be benefited by the growth of American coal exports. The report of heavy sales of coal from West Virginia, Virginia and Central Pennsylvania mines to Italy are being keenly watched. It is believed that so soon as these seaboard mines become well supplied with export coal trade the Pittsburg district mines will come in for their share.

Ma Sweet and family are coming to town last week of April. Watch for the date. 240-t1

RAILROAD GETS LINE ON AVAILABLE HOUSES

Proposal to Move West Brownsville Yards to Elrama Causes Visit to Real Estate Agencies at Monongahela

Real estate agents representing the Pennsylvania Railroad have been in Monongahela lately, it is said getting a line on the houses available there for renting, with the idea in view of providing suitable residences for railroad men to be transferred from West Brownsville to Elrama.

According to the story that has gained circulation at Monongahela, from 40 to 50 crews will be removed from West Brownsville to the Elrama yards. This is in accord with a plan mentioned some time ago of the entire removal of the West Brownsville yards to a point farther down the river. Forty or 50 crews will mean approximately 200 men, and housing is to be provided for these, according to the story.

Accommodations for railroad men at Elrama are so far entirely inadequate, and Monongahela is a pleasing location for railroad men to live, being within easy distance of Elrama.

Not only renting agencies were visited in Monongahela, but also private renters, until a perfect list of the available houses has been compiled.

MONESSEN ROMANCE HAS TRAGIC END

Suicide Reported When Swede Gets Bad News From Abroad Where Girl Had Been Visiting For the Past Year

Believed to have been despondent because of unsatisfactory letters from a woman friend to whom he is said to have been previously engaged, William Stone, a Swede, aged about 35 or 40 years, committed suicide at the Union hotel, Monessen this morning by slashing his jugular vein with a razor. His body was found an hour afterward.

It is stated that Stone was in love with a Swedish girl, who left Monessen about a year ago. She failed to return, and lately after receiving a letter seemed to become very despondent. What she wrote to him has not been ascertained, but it is believed to have been discouraging information to him.

Stone came from New Castle to Monessen, where he has been for about four years employed at the box factory. He is not known to have any relatives in this country.

COMPLAINTS MADE OF CONDITION OF ROAD

Argued That Portion of Highway Near Beechwood Crossing is Practically Impassable—Too Much Mud Is the Assertion.

Complaints have been made of the condition of a portion of the road near Beechwood crossing, which is in Speers borough. It is maintained that for a distance of from 100 to 200 feet the road is nearly impassable because of its muddy condition. The road is in the state plan, but repairs of late have not been kept up, and drivers of trucks and automobiles find trouble in traversing this part of the river road.

ENGINEER GRAY LEAVES HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT

Local Man Now Located in Responsible Position With Parsons Construction Company, Which is Building New Eagle Road.

A change occurs this week in the county department of the state highway department. Alexander Gray of Charleroi, who has been district engineer for the department in Washington county, has relinquished the reins to be succeeded by Ray Forsythe of the Pittsburg office of the State Highway department.

Gray assumes the superintendency of the Parsons Construction company, which is building the connecting road through the borough of New Eagle. Mr. Gray has been connected with the state department and is one of the best known engineers in the state.

Mr. Forsythe has also been connected with the department for several years and has been employed as a draughtsman and resident engineer in Pittsburg.

BID ON WELTNER STORE IS NOT SATISFACTORY

For the second time an effort was made Wednesday by the trustees in bankrupcy to sell the store known as Weltner's Pharmacy on Fifth street. A bid of $900 was placed, but this was not satisfactory for the stock and fixtures. Another attempt will be made to sell the store within about two weeks.

RAILROADS AWAITING DECISION OF COMMISSION ON THEIR MERGER

Operation of Line to Fairmont Depends Upon Results—Inspection Trip This Week.

Waiting the decision of the Public Service Commission on a proposed merger is what the Monongahela Railway and the Buchanan and Northern Railroad are doing. When the commission approves the merger of the two companies, then it is expected there will be an immediate beginning of operations between Brownsville and Fairmont. Operations would have been started April 1, it is stated, had the decision been forthcoming.

The semi-annual bridge inspection was made this week over the B. & N. line by the Monongahela officials. The inspection trip was taken to Fairmont and return from Brownsville. Supt. George B Obey headed the party.

ELKS' OFFICERS ARE INSTALLED

Past Exalted Ruler Bert W. Rowlands, of Carnegie, is in Charge of Ceremonies

SOCIAL SESSION AT CLOSE

Officers of Charleroi lodge, No. 494, B. P. O. Elks, were installed Wednesday night at the Elks home, the installation ceremonies being in charge of Bert W. Rowlands, past exalted ruler of Carnegie lodge. Past Exalted Ruler Rowlands brought with him a complete retinue of officers and the installation was impressive.

Officers installed were: Exalted ruler, A. J. Harner; esteemed leading knight, S. W. Sharpnack; esteemed loyal knight, J. W. Mathias; esteemed lecturing knight, Joe T. S. Cowan; secretary, George W. Risbeck; treasurer, T. R. Eagye; tiler, R. O Vetter; trustee, C. W. Weltner; representative to grand lodge, W. O Brinham; alternate representative, D. R. Hormell.

A number of visitors were present from Carnegie, Wilkinsburg, Pa., Rochester, N. Y., and other points. Among others, John W. Trindale, Jr., a prominent member of New York lodge, No. 1., was present. A social session was held after the ceremonies of installation, and several talks were made then by the visitors and others.

Knife Duel at Canonsburg Results in Death of One and Injury of Another

OTHER CASE AT MONONGAHELA

Two Men are Held for Shire Oaks Murder Comitted Last October, at a Preliminary Hearing Before Alderman Ellwood.

As a result of Wednesday's occurrences in two different parts of the county the May grand jury will face consideration of two alleged homicides. As a result of a knife duel at Houston Wednesday night, one foreigner whose name is unknown is dead and another lies in the Canonsburg hospital in a critical condition. The other event was the holding without bail of Frank Cornish and George Nitroski, of Shire Oaks for the murder of John Baretz at Shire Oaks on Saturday, October 11, 1914. Their preliminary hearing was given before Alderman Ellwood at Monongahela.

The Canonsburg fight occurred early in the evening, but news of the murder was not circulated until the dead man was found by Constable Rathbone, of Canonsburg in his yard with his life blood streaming from a wound in his neck. This man's assailant had severed a large artery. The wounded man, two other men and a woman were in the nearest house. All were taken into custody and the injured man removed to the Canonsburg hospital. Deep lacerations on the skull make the outcome of his hurts doubtful. He was placed on the operating table immediately. Houston officers believe the battle to have been a speakeasy fight, and are of the opinion that it started within the house and that the two men edged toward the yard to finish the affray.

In the hearing at Monongahela of Cornish and Nitroski, eleven witnesses were called at the hearing and their evidence was deemed sufficient to hold the two men until the next term of grand jury. The men were taken to the county jail Wednesday evening.

The killing of Baretz followed a drunken row which started with an argument over the war. Baretz was badly beaten up and died early in the morning. The two men now held for court along with a brother of Nitroski disappeared that night and nothing was heard of them until April 2, when Constable Elmer Jerico located Cornish at Adamsburg, near Greensburg. When Constable Jeriko found Cornish he was suffering with lumbago. He was taken to the Greensburg hospital for treatment, and was released three days ago. Cornish gave out information that led to the finding and arrest of Nitroski.

OBEYING THE LAW

Since Charleroi and Monessen began strict enforcement of automobile laws, there has been a noticeable decrease in the number of deliberate violations. Eventually they—the motorists—will learn.

Reducing the speed to the legal limit, blowing horns at crossings, eliminating the use of streets as testing grounds are three essential things. If motorists remember these there will be no need of further discussion of a worn-out subject. But if they do not, then there will be just as much justice in hailing them before the bar as there is in any common offender for any common crime. It isn't very pleasing for the average speed maniac to find himself classed among the common crowd who loot and destroy. But where is the distinction? Both classes violate state statutes, and both commit crimes against the welfare of the community.

Charleroi is on the right path. Warnings, extended through the proper channels, have had and will have the desired effect. That is all that is asked.

PRECAUTIONS

There are a lot of precautionary measures that may be well taken to prevent fires, and one of them is to get acquainted with the exact location of the nearest fire alarm box, as well as the method for sending in alarms. There isn't much use discussing ordinary fire precautions and arguing over their necessity, but ignorance of the fire box matters is of a kind that is not bliss. Some day your house may be burned while you're out learning what might have been learned in spare moments.

ARBOR DAYS.

Governor Brumbaugh has issued a proclamation fixing April 16 to 23 as Arbor Days. He makes a plea for the planting of trees and the protection of birds. The proclamation is quite lengthy and copies have been provided for distribution, in order that they may be read in the schools, before Audubon Societies and other organizations.

The Governor naturally dwells upon the matter as a measure of landscape improvement, and as a measure of health betterment, says the exchange. He does not so greatly emphasize the economic standpoint. Yet ultimately practically every problem is an economic problem. The reforesting depleted lands, the development of food-growing trees, and even the contribution of the Arbor Day trees to comfort, health and happiness, add to the wealth of the state.

The care for the birds and the trees, through organized endeavor on Arbor Days, turn the thoughts of the people to the great out-of-doors, and this—so far as the people in the congested communities are concerned—is an end in itself.

James passed his plate for the fourth time, saying: "Not enough boy!"

Luke McLuke Says:

You imagine you are a pretty fine kind of a fellow. But the chances are that if you ever met a man precisely like yourself you wouldn't have much use for him.

If you want to have plenty of friends just make other people imagine that they know more than you do.

The reason mother wants daughter to marry a man who is just like father is because her grandmother gets up every morning at 4 o'clock and swims across the river and back again.

What has become of the old fashioned defaulting bank cashier who was a Sunday school superintendent?

A girl thinks more of a man who flatters her a lot and doesn't mean a thing than she does of a man who means a lot and doesn't say a thing.

A five dollar preacher can tie a knot so hard that it takes a $500 lawyer to loosen it.

A man who is smart enough to get a reputation as a fighter never has to do any fighting.

Don't let your wife see this. But it is a fact that a man's wife is usually what he makes her.

Another humbug like homemade bread is the coffee that mother used to make. Mother used to grind the beans and throw them into an old tin pot and boil the coffee until it was thick and strong and muddy. It tasted fine when you were a boy because you had a boy's appetite. But it is a safe bet that you would get mad today if you were asked to drink a cup of the coffee that mother used to make.

Once upon a time there was a coal wagon driver who did not insist on occupying the street car tracks all the time and who did not make a motorman wait for five minutes until the coal wagon pulled over on the side of the street where it belonged. But he died. He was too good for this world.

Wireless In the Amazon Region.

In the Juamara region of the Amazon the natives use a crude system of wireless telegraphy, which, it is claimed, has been in operation for thousands of years. The transmitter found by an explorer was a hollowed trunk of a tree suspended from a horizontal pole stretched between two stumps. Inside the transmitter had been arranged much like a violin, and it was explained that when the instrument was struck smartly with a small rubber hammer a vibration was created that carried for miles over the land. The receiver is very similar to the transmitter, except that it is placed on a stand and platform, the base of the hollowed tree trunk being grounded on the platform. When the message is struck in the monitoring village, sometimes thirty miles away, this receiver catches the vibrations, causing a jerky, singing sound. The sound system, it is said, can be read by the members of the tribe, and in this way news of victories and other happenings are told throughout the countryside.—Argonaut.

Washing Day In Sicily.

The Sicilians have the reputation of not washing themselves overfrequently, but if they are remiss in this respect they more than make up for it by washing their garments—washing, in fact, being a perennial occupation among the women. The songs of the women folk as they scrub the cloth of their husbands and children outside the doors of their homes, if living a city, or in some brook or running stream, if living in the country, are a noticeable feature of lower class Sicilian life.

The long spikes on the prickly pear leaves and aloe plants make splendid natural pegs on which to dry the clothes, and in all the rural districts you will see them thus utilized, but if they do not happen to be sufficiently handy the clothes are often stretched out upon the mountain side to dry. The occupation and recreation of most of the poorer women may be summed up in three words—washing and gossip.—Wide World Magazine.

The Star Alcyone.

The size of the star Alcyone and its distance from the sun are both unknown and, so far as can now be seen, must remain unknown. It has no parallax large enough to be measured by the most accurate modern micrometrical methods.

That is, take a large telescope with you, go to Alcyone, turn, look back this way, then the entire diameter of the orbit of the earth around the sun, a huge ellipse, 185,765,000 miles in diameter, if a bright line in space so that it could be seen, would appear to be so small that the telemicrometer could not measure it. Not knowing the distance, size cannot be known.

But, judging from its light when compared with that of other suns whose distances are fairly well known, it must be colossal—many times larger than our medium sized star, the sun.—New York American.

Art Criticism.

It is related that almost the last work Sir Edwin Landseer was engaged on was a life sized picture of Nell Gwyn passing through an archway on a white palfrey. This picture, in which the horse alone was finished, was bought by one of the Rothschild family and given to Sir John Millais to complete. One morning a celebrated art critic called on the painter and was much impressed by this work. "Ah, to be sure," he said, going up close and examining a deerhound in the foreground of the picture; "how easily one can recognize Landseer's dogs! Wonderful, isn't it?" "Yes; it is wonderful!" said Sir John, lighting his pipe. "I finished painting that dog yesterday morning and have done the whole of it myself."

German Army Shoes.

Leather used for German army shoes is the result of many tests. It is rather dry compared with American vegetable tanned leather. However, it is made dry so that the oxidizing oils and fats will not rot the leather fiber during the many years that it may be held in storage. Every soldier when he gets his army shoes also gets a can of shoe dressing, with which he dresses his shoes. This keeps them pliable and water resisting. The boots are crimped. They have only two seams. They are practically water tight. The thread used for stitching them is hand waxed. The absence of blackings of any nature tends to save the life of the boot. It rejects the sun's rays too.—Hide and Leather.

Argentina's Natural Bridge.

In Argentina there is a natural bridge that is one of the most wonderful in the world. It spans the Rio Mendoza and is known as the Inca bridge. It is the work of nature and not, as was once popularly supposed, of the Incas. The road on which it occurs was probably a highway made by the Peruvian Incas, who took advantage of the phenomenon by leading their road over this natural viaduct.

A Prosperous Scheme.

Where Mirrors Are Forbidden

The followers of Jean de Labadie still flourish in some parts of Holland. The tenets of the Labadists forbid the use of mirrors as tending to foster vanity and a love of fine clothes. This self denying ordinance is all the more creditable, seeing that, next to the founder, the leading figure among the Labadists was a woman. When Jean de Labadie left the Reformed church and founded a sect of his own orthodoxy bars made it impossible for him to tend his flock. Anna Maria van Schurman came to the rescue and enabled the Labadists to settle at Wieuwerd in Friesland. Her eloquent sermons brought many converts to the new faith, for she was a pioneer of women's rights.—London Chronicle

First Steps in English

The police in Calcutta caught a native coming out of a shop early in the morning and arrested him on suspicion. The man had on the previous evening concealed himself inside the shop and had employed the time until morning in fitting himself with a complete suit of clothes, including a white shirt, with studs and links, a red tie, carefully put on, black socks, a pair of patent leather shoes, watch and chain, handkerchief, pocket knife, straw hat and cane. He even went the length of writing his name inside the hat. On being arraigned before a magistrate he gave the queerest excuse imaginable. He said that he wanted to learn English and, as a preliminary step, thought it best to dress like an Englishman.

CALLED ON GOVERNOR

Labor Men Discuss Compensation With Brumbaugh.

Harrisburg, Feb 9—When a committee of labor men called on Governor Brumbaugh at the executive mansion and asked that he support a workmen's compensation law modeled after the Ohio act, the governor stated that there are three elements that should be given consideration above everything else.

"First," he said, "to enact a law that would make compensation positive without any possibility of an employer avoiding the liability, second, to expedite payments and prevent litigation in the courts, and, third, to conserve life and limb by making the employer put in adequate safety devices, thereby preventing accidents and the necessity of paying compensation.

In connection with this third element, Governor Brumbaugh commented as follows. "Gentlemen, you of course recognize the fact that it is far better that the state prevent accidents through good laws than to merely provide compensation to a man when injured. Better that he be not injured at all."

There were forty-eight labor men in this delegation, and it is the first time that so many toilers visited the executive mansion in a body. When the governor entered the room he said to his visitors: "Gentlemen, make yourself at home; this is not my house any more than it is yours. I'm but a temporary occupant."

CURED OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

Ohio Man's Case Shows How Terrible Malady Can Be Conquered.

"Dear Sufferer:—Last summer I was attacked with kidney trouble. Incessant backache was the first symptom. Whenever I stooped to tie my shoes I felt a dizzy, swimming sensation in my head. It was almost impossible for me to straighten up because of my stiff back. My hands were puffed and covered with little brownish-yellow spots. The kidneys were highly congested and off in action. I heard of Lloyd's kidney and rheumatism tablets as the new and scientific treatment, so tried it. It proved a wonder. The backache and yellow spots have entirely disappeared and I now feel better in every way.

I advise you, suffering from backache, tired feeling, restlessness, nightly arising, any kidney or bladder ills or rheumatism, to get from your druggist today a few Lloyd's, the kind that cured me. Don't injure your kidneys by using salts or powerful drugs.

Signed, C. R. Hopwood, Kenton, O."

Delayed "Last Moments."

In the battle of Friedland, on June 14, 1807, there was a young lieutenant in Napoleon's army named Schramm. When the victorious general was riding over the battlefield that evening he came upon the eighteen year-old officer lying on the ground mortally wounded and weeping bitterly.

"Why do you weep?" asked Napoleon as he rode by.

"Because I must die before I can become a captain," the youth complained.

The words of the dying lieutenant softened the emperor's heart. "My son, I shall gladly fulfill your wish," he said. "I hereby advance you to the rank of captain."

The unexpected promotion actually saved the boy's life. He recovered. Later on he fought most valiantly for the cause of Napoleon, and by the time of the battle of Waterloo he had already become a general. He outlived his "last moments" on the field of Friedland by more than seventy years.

Embarrassing.

In South Africa General French earned the title of "the shirt sleeved general," Mr. Chisholm says in "Sir John French." General French was often to be seen walking about in camp in shirt sleeves. One afternoon a correspondent rode up to the lines and, seeing a soldier sitting on a bundle of hay smoking a dilapidated looking old briar pipe, asked where the general was.

"The old man is somewhere about," coolly replied the soldier.

"Well, just hold my horse while I go and search for him."

"Certainly, sir," and the smoker rose obediently and took the bridle.

"Can you tell me where the general is?" inquired the correspondent of a staff officer farther down the line.

"General French? Oh, he's somewhere about. Why, there he is, holding that horse's head!"

And the officer pointed directly to the smoker, still tranquilly pulling at his pipe and holding the horse.

GOLD DUST

For every brightening and cleaning purpose in every home

Gold Dust is used at least three times a day in millions of homes everywhere.

Yet there are many thousands of housewives who think Gold Dust is only for one or two uses—

They would not use anything else but Gold Dust for washing dishes, for example—

Or for scrubbing floors and woodwork, washing windows, etc.

* * *

Gold Dust should be used for cleaning and brightening everything.

It is most economical; it is most satisfactory and it is most sanitary.

Cannot scratch or harm any surface, and it will dissolve and remove all dirt and grease.

The active principle of Gold Dust is so remarkably thorough that you rinse away the dirt and grease, leaving a newness, a cleanness and a brightness which delights.

* * *

Gold Dust forces its way into the corners and crevices where neither fingers nor washcloth can reach. It truly works for you. Any woman who has washed dishes with Gold Dust knows what that means.

Gold Dust is the leading washing and cleaning powder in the world; it is indispensable once you know it.

HOW WOUNDS HEAL.

Nature's Processes Play a Large Part In the Operation.

Few people have any idea of the wonderful process by which wounds heal. Stitching, dressing, etc., are important operations, but none of them can make good the damage or replace the loss of tissue in a wound. This is the work of our good friends in the blood, the white corpuscles, the "scavengers," so called because they destroy disease germs.

When a wound is made, a bone broken, a nerve torn, etc., it is chiefly by these corpuscles finding their way out of the blood vessels into the surrounding tissues that the injuries by bullet or bayonet are repaired. The union of broken bones, nerves, skin, etc., is effected by the corpuscles finding their way into the congulated blood which surrounds the injured parts.

They throw out what are called "processes," become fixed and join each other. A new tissue is thus formed, which becomes endowed with blood vessels. Fibers follow, and these serve to keep the torn tissues of the wound in what is surgically called "opposition."

In this tissue, in the case of a broken bone, bone salts are deposited; where nerves have been torn by a bullet nerve fibers grow, and so on. These fibers in the course of healing contract, and it is by that power of contraction that the edges of a wound are brought together and united.—Pearson's Weekly.

"The Pear Is Not Ripe."

Bourrienne asked Napoleon before the expedition started if he had really determined to risk his fate in Egypt. "Yes," was the reply. "If I stay here I shall have to upset this miserable government and make myself king. But we must not think of that yet. The pear is not ripe. I have sounded, but the time is not yet come. I must first dazzle these gentlemen by my exploits."—Table Talk and Opinions of Napoleon Bonaparte.

MOTHER TELLS HOW VINOL

Made Her Delicate Boy Strong

New York City.—"My little boy was in a very weak, delicate condition as a result of gastritis and the measles and there seemed no hope of saving his life. The doctor prescribed cod liver oil but he could not take it. I decided to try Vinol—and with splendid results. It seemed to agree with him so that now he is a strong healthy boy."—Mrs. THOMAS FITZGERALD, 1090 Park Ave., N. Y. City.

Girl Workers In Japan.

The number of factory girls newly recruited every year in Japan is 300,000 of whom only 50,000 go home. The remaining 150,000 never return. They go from one factory to another or go into other occupations, never thinking of going home.—Worker of Labor.

Charming Widow—And what are you doing nowadays? Mr. Rich Looking out for number one. And you? Charming Widow—Oh, I'm looking out for number two!—Houston Post.

Boys as They Eat.

Jerome K. Jerome in one of his unconsciously sentimental but conscious ly clever essays remarks:

It is amusing to see boys eat, when you have not got to pay for it. They think of a square meal is a pound and a half of roast beef with five or six good sized potatoes (soapy ones preferred, as being more substantial), plenty of greens, and four thick slices of Yorkshire pudding, followed by a couple of currant dumplings, a few green apples, a penn'orth of nuts half a dozen jumbles and a bottle of ginger beer. After that they play at horses. How they must despise us men, who require to sit quiet for a couple of hours after dining off a spoonful of clear soup and the wing of a chicken!

An Explanation.

The chairman of the program committee was embarrassed. After much choking he said.

"I am very sorry, ladies and gentlemen, I am very sorry indeed, gentlemen and ladies—it gives me deep regret, ladies and gentlemen, to be compelled, gentlemen and ladies, to come before you with an excuse; but, ladies and gentlemen, the lady who will sing next is not here. We suppose, gentlemen and ladies, that she has been providentially detained." — New York Post.

Details of Elegance.

"Hiram," said Mrs. Corntossel at the dinner party, "the table decorations were elegant, weren't they?"

"Yes," replied her husband as he pushed his finger bowl away. "There's only one little thing they forgot."

"What's that?"

"They didn't put any goldfish in the little aquariums." Washington Star.

Quill Pens.

The quill pen is not quite extinct in London. The legal profession, which is very conservative, clings to it tenaciously, and none of the courts would be completely equipped without a plentiful supply of good goose quills. Have you noticed what an indispensable accessory the quill is to counsel, whether in ostentatiously taking a note, making a speech or in helping to point a warning finger at a hostile witness?—London Standard.

By Internal Evidence.

"Where do you suppose we got the saying, 'He laughs best who laughs last?'" asked Mrs. Binks of her husband.

"Probably some Englishman first said it," replied Mr. Binks. "He was doubtless trying to set a national failing in a favorable light."—Youth's Companion.

Food For Gossip.

"Where are you going?"

"To call on Mrs. Wallaby-Wombat. Better come along. I understand there are some very interesting things to be heard."

"How so?"

"She has just quarreled with her best friend."—Pittsburgh Post.

Offensively Officious.

"You always go home exceedingly early, old man."

"Yes. Our neighbors are the cause of that."

"How so?"

"If I stay downtown a minute late they come right over and condone with my wife."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Caviar.

Caviar is the roe of the sturgeon prepared as a table delicacy. As a dish too rare to be known by the generality of people and the flavor of which would not be relished by an uneducated palate. Shakespeare makes Hamlet speak of it.

Horne's Style Supreme Assortment of

$35.00 Suits for Women

A medium price at which we know many women expect to buy the new Spring suit. Consequently, we have a line at this price which they will delight to inspect, because of the many different styles it presents.

The advantages of a Metropolitan store, which we extend, should be considered by every woman who desires to have that up-to-the-minute appearance of stylish dress. And because of these same advantages, the prices are not extravagant, but rather less than you would pay in your home town.

The Variety:

Black-and-white Check Suits, novelty styles—short jackets with silk collars and trimmings—also tailored effects, with the smart belted and braid bound jackets—a wealth of fine suits for selection.

Gabardine Suits, in the new shades of putty and sand.

Plenty of Black Suits, smart tailored models and those with trimmings, including braid embroidered and tassel edged jackets. These include Suits of Chuddah cloth.

Exceptional selection in Blue Suits, in the new shades and the always desirable navy. Superior qualities of serge, gabardine and wool poplin. Tailored models are particularly smart in gray suits, made of tweeds, homespuns, suitings and gabardine.

Sports Suits made of knitted Alpine cloth, in Oxford gray, heather mixtures and bright colors.

BIG REAL ESTATE SALE REPORTED AT MONONGAHELA

The largest real estate deal in many years was closed at Monongahela Wednesday when D. H. Borland bought the entire business real estate of the Elizabeth Borland estate. The property consists of the entire Borland department store and the C.D. Borland shoe store. The consideration involved was not made public but it is said to be between $40,000 and $50,000.

Not long ago Mr. Borland purchased the business of the Borland department store, but until Wednesday the buildings and property on which they stand belonged to the estate of his mother. The shoe store business held by C. D. Borland.

AGED HERMIT FOUND DEAD IN HIS HUT

William Tuchs, Aged 85 Years, Succumbs to Illness of Long Duration at Sunnyside.

Wiliam T. Tuchs, aged about 85 years, was found dead at his home at Sunnyside Wednesday. His death followed a long illness due to a complication of diseases. Tuchs had been for long a strange man, living the life of a recluse. Little was known concerning him, except that he was a hermit and seldom mingled with the people of the community. He lived alone in a little hut.

TELEPHONE DESCRIBED IN ILLUSTRATED TALK

School Pupils Listen to Lecture on Development of Means of Communication—Many Stereopticon Slides Shown.

Wednesday afternoon George W. Benford, of the Bell Telephone company gave an illustrated lecture on the advancement of communication from its earliest stage up to the present modern advanced system at the high school auditorium. Four hundred pupils of the advanced classes of the schools heard the lecture.

Fifty-two slides were used in the lecture. The slides included pictures of the carrier pigeons, lighthouse, polished shields, signal towers and other early forms of communication, showing the contrast between them and the telephone as it stands today, which is so complete that a person in New York can talk distinctly to a friend in San Francisco.

A picture was also shown of Dr. Bell, the inventor of the telephone and Thomas A. Watson, his assistant, the former speaking in Newk YT the former speaking in New York and the later receiving the message in San Francisco.

Replicas of the telephone used at the time of the invention were used in the deliverance of this message. This message was sent January 25, 1915, and February 11, 1915, the line across the continent was formally inaugurated by striking the Liberty Bell in Philadelphia, a band playing "America" in San Francisco where the sound was heard.

Out of town people were here to attend the lecture, among them being Miss Anna Devore and H. A. Lowstetter, of Monongahela, Miss Anna McAleese, of Brownsville; Miss Florence Young, Miss Edith Samoda, C. J. McKean, of Belle Vernon; Miss Jennie Donnegan, Miss Blanche Donnegan and Miss Mary King, of Monessen; Miss Ethel Dick, Miss Marie Kogler, of Donora; E. T. Ritter, of Uniontown.
